[redacted] called me to say that he had talked with his friends on the [redacted], presumably [redacted] about the [redacted] planes and parts, and that his [redacted] people indicated that we would be discussing it further and that we were interested. [redacted] was puzzled by this since he knew he had not talked to me. I told him that we had informed our [redacted] people that we had no connection with the transaction, and while not opposing any loan or arrangements they might make, this Agency had no part therein. [redacted] said this was his understanding from previous talks with Mr. Hedden, and he did not wish to get involved unless we wanted him to. He pointed out that he did have representatives in [redacted] who could take action in this case, but I repeated that at this point, and so far as I knew in the future, this Agency had no interest in being involved in the transaction in any way.
